Vedette is an iPhone game that taps into our inherent creativity as well as our instinctive desire to go berserk and misbehave! The gameplay in Vedette is unique and fun. The game is simple; tap to throw objects (bottles, slingshots, hats, elbows, chairs, etc). The types of objects you can throw, the manner in which you can throw and your resulting damage to opponents and the environment (bottles, chairs, hats, window, etc.) is completely up to you. The game is self-contained and designed to run under a single battery charge. Players of all ages and levels of experience are welcome. Vedette will appeal to all people. =====

===== F.A.Q How Do I Get Started: To get started press the play button (above). Where can I Download the Game? If you have an iPhone there is a App Store link on the front of the play screen. Are there video tutorials? Yes, see the Options Menu in the app to find the Guide button. Then press the Guide button and you will be sent to a page that contains a tutorial on how to play. =====

===== Options: Change the difficulty: The difficulty changes how the game responds to your throwing abilities. Easy: Players can throw a bottle and it will actually do damage. It can then be smashed through a window to finish off the target. The bottle will still explode and splatter breaking glass. Normal: Players can throw a bottle and it will do damage. It will explode on impact. Hard: Players can only throw bottles and they will not do any damage. Change the resolution: This applies to iPhone users only. Change the type of physics used: Hard: No physics - users will smash through anything that is thrown at them

*You are a wolf. *You need to find your family. *You need to survive. *You need to save your family. *Enjoy playing with the most adorable nature :) Of course, you can play the game by yourself or with your friend! Animals are not human. They react differently to what we do or to what they see. For example, a fish is interested in the movement of its environment; a fish can swim to look for food. Animals have five senses. They can see, smell, hear, taste and feel. Animals have emotions. The feel of pain. The instinctive behavior of animals is different from the behavior of humans. For example: a fox does not respect the will of a human. For intelligent animals, the use of reason is less necessary, and the will obeys an immediate instinct, without consulting the intellect. Animals are motivated by the pursuit of pleasure or avoiding the adverse consequences of their actions. However, they are not only motivated by pleasure and adverse consequences; they are also motivated by emotions. Animal behavior can be instinctive, instinctive, and emotional. An instinctive behavior is the behavior that animals automatically do without thinking. It is also the behavior that animals do without thinking in the presence of an appropriate stimulus. For example, if you're hungry, you cannot help yourself to eat, even if you know that you will have a bad headache. The instinctive behavior of animals is guided by this stimulus without planning or elaborating on it. Animals sometimes perform repeated behavior patterns, which are called instinctive behavior. For example, when a crocodile is hungry, it eats two times a day. It also eats when it gets very tired, even if it hurts. An instinctive behavior is an automatic behavior that animals do without thinking. An instinctive behavior is the result of an instinctive response to a stimulus. For example, you can tell that animals are hungry. They are sad, if they miss their food. An instinctive response is an automatic response that animals can do without thinking. For example, if a dog is hungry, it will follow you and search for a bone. If it has a disease, it will go to the doctor. However, the behavior can be instinctive and emotional. For example, the behavior of a

What's new in PARKAN: THE IMPERIAL CHRONICLES:

Chapter 2: Take Over The Earth Scene '1-1' After some memory exercises, Group A's instructors, Senshin and Kaede are meeting again. Senshin senses small difference in each other's expression compared to last time. Senshin: "There's no doubt. It looks like White Wolf's child, Black Wolf, has finally managed to take over the board." (Myself), The death of a nation... The death of the god..." (Kaede) Senshin detects a change in Kaede's facial expression and voice but continues talking as if everything is normal. Senshin: "Hey, haven't you two finished yet?" (Let's talk...) Kaede: "Uh... oh!" (I have nothing...) ... Senshin: "Okay. It's like this. He's finally managed to regain control of the Spirits and even soul paths. Myself, Kaede, and White Wolf are the only ones left with 'Stein power'. If we let this continue, how can we ever win back the title again? That's the main reasoning behind this meeting.*" (To all of you) Takeshi: "Ueh... Tou just said the whole thing? You should've checked whether that was the right thing to say first?!" (A woman would be in better shape than that...) Kaede: "There's no way for someone who doesn't understand any of this to say something like that!" (Eh? If we leave the decision to a third party, the outcome is certain to turn out bad, isn't that why we haven't lost?) Senshin: "Just remember that this is the only way to counter a person like Black Wolf. Nothing else is acceptable.*" (Control the spirits... or submit to his power...) *(What can I do to rescue my country?)" (Gotham City versus Izumo) Kaede: "No way. I just came back from Izumo a moment ago and I remember that it was full of people as always. It's impossible to fight against that..." (What kind of straw man is that?) Senshin: "

“Absolute Blue is a game I would LOVE to see on a larger scale,” states gameplay designer/composer, Terry Regan. “Creating the music style was very much an experience in itself and I personally think that, if pushed a bit harder, it could make a terrific cross platform game franchise.” Absolute Blue is the first game of its kind and has been in development for over four years! It is a first person action game which utilises a full rock n’ roll video library and machine-generated sound. The game’s soundtrack has been composed by Terry Regan and the sound design and programming is done by Dan Connolly (Daniel Connolly) using early technology that allows him to make the game sound as if it was made in the late 1980s. A game that looks into the soul of a musician, creating intense musical experiences for players. This is Absolute Blue! Absolute Blue features: A full rock n’ roll video library with full range of sound Full motion video imagery, hand-drawn animation and polygons 28 levels 8 unlockable stages Trippy Dope Fantasy Crime Two Player co-op The ability to craft your own music with instruments of all types Use ANY sound hardware device Create your own sound effects As a bonus all purchasers will receive Absolute Blue Soundtrack and 10 level challenges to play on their own. It also comes with four additional levels called Trippy Dope. Peruse our Absolute Blue video now and be on the lookout for a pre-order deal in the near future. In this port, we decided not to include a license for the audio; because why should you have to rent something that might not quite be the correct format? Because of that, it is necessary to avoid any synchronization with the original software. Our goal was to update the game without having to fix bugs from the original software. The new version includes a lot of progress but it is not ready for the moment. More progress will be done during the following months to properly complete the game. After the release you will be able to find download links in the comments section and will be available for free on our store. With a goal to make all the music more interesting and fitting for the action, Absolute Blue comes with a tutorial stage. The tutorial stage takes a brief look on the
